CONTRIBUTORS

DICK ANTHONY is a psychologist of religion and research coordinator of the Center for the Study of New Religions at the Graduate Theological Union, Berkeley, California. He is the co-editor, with Thomas Robbins, of In Gods We Trust (Transaction Press, Inc. 1980), a collection of research articles on contemporary religion.

PAUL CHEVIGNY is an Associate Professor of Law at New York University. He worked for several years for the New York Civil Liberties Union, and has authored several books, including Police Power (Pantheon Books 1969), Cops and Rebels (Pantheon Books 1972), and Criminal Mischief: A Novel (Pantheon Books 1977).

RICHARD DELGADO is a Professor of Law at the University of California at Los Angeles, and the author of Religious Totalism: Gentle and Ungentle Persuasion Under the First Amendment, 51 S. Calif. L. Rev. 1 (1977).

NATHAN DERSHOWITZ is the Director of the Commission on Law, Social Action and Urban Affairs of the American Jewish Congress. A litigator with vast experience in both civil and criminal matters, he is also a Special Professor at the Hofstra University Law School.

THEODORE FREEDMAN is the national Program Director for the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith. He is responsible for the League's activities in the areas of education, interfaith curriculum development, and research. Mr. Freedman also supervises the development of all publications and multi-media materials distributed by the Anti-Defamation League.

JEREMIAH GUTMAN is General Counsel, Director and a member of the Executive Committee of the New York Civil Liberties Union. Chairperson of the Privacy Committee of the American Civil Liberties Union, he is also on the ACLU's Executive Committee and Board of Directors.

LEO PFEFFER is Special Counsel to the American Jewish Congress and Professor of Constitutional Law at Long Island University.

NORMAN REDLICH is Dean of New York University School of Law. Co-chairperson of both the Lawyers' Committee for Civil Rights Under Law and the Commission on Law and Social Action of the American Jewish Congress, he is the author of Professional Responsibility: A Problem Approach (Little, Brown & Co. 1976).

DAVID RICHARDS is an Associate Professor of Law at New York University and holds a Ph.D. in philosophy from Oxford University. Professor Richards is the author of A Theory of Reasons for Action (Oxford University Press, Inc. 1971) and The Moral Criticism of Law (Dickenson Publishing Co. 1977).

THOMAS ROBBINS is a post-doctoral fellow in the Sociology Department, Yale University. He is the co-editor, with Dick Anthony, of In Gods We Trust (Transaction Press, Inc. 1980), and the author of numerous articles on new religions.

JONATHAN ROSNER is an Adjunct Professor of Law (Advocacy) at New York University. He represents former cult members in litigation involving their first amendment rights and the first amendment rights of cults.

MARCIA R. RUDIN is co-author, with James Rudin, of Prison or Paradise? The New Religious Cults (Fortress Press 1980). She has lectured throughout the country on cults and religions. She holds an M.A. in religion jointly from Columbia University and Union Theological Seminary.

PAUL TRAUB is an attorney-at-law, practicing in New York City.

PATRICK M. WALL is an attorney-at-law, practicing civil and criminal litigation in New York City.