

Below are the available header styles. You'll find these styles in the styles pulldown menu when in Contributor Mode. Please use them when adding section headers within your pages. Please don't use them inside paragraphs themselves. Use the bold style for emphasis within a paragraph of text. Or you can use the pullquote style to give major emphasis to text within a paragraph (see Adding Pullquotes documentation).

H2 Page Title

H2 is only for the title of the page.

Style the type like a book title (ie, do not capitalize "of," "in," etc.)

Office of Admissions About NYU Law

H3 Major Section Head

*Distinguishes major sections on the page
Ideally, there should be more than one H3 per page*

If the H3 is not subdivided, the regular body text should begin directly below.

Public Transportation

Do not use a colon after an H3 section head

Public Transportation:

Liquam nit ut lor acincin utem et, quam, consenim augiat. Ut vel exer ad exer si bla alit lore dolobore tie doluptat. Ommolore conse tem veliquis ex euisis num dio do et prate mincili quatuero od do conse dui tat dolore modit adio odolessi dio odolobor augue doloreet.....

Do not use H3 section head inside a paragraph

Do not use H3 section head for full sentences

Ignim dio et nis alisl er alit acip ex et niscipit, vel dolor sustie faccum del ea conulput doloborem niat.

H4 Subsection

H4 denotes a subsection within an H3 major section.

Public Transportation

Liquam nit ut lor acincin utem et, quam, consenim augiat. Ut vel exer ad exer si bla alit lore dolobore tie doluptat. Ommolore conse tem veliquis ex euisis num dio do et prate mincili quatuero od do conse duī tat dolore modit adio odolessi dio odolobor augue doloreet...

Bus

Liquam nit ut lor acincin utem et, quam, consenim augiat. Ut vel exer ad exer si bla alit lore dolobore tie doluptat. Ommolore conse tem veliquis ex euisis num doloreet...

H4 may be used, in sentence form, at the top of the page to explain the contents of that page.

Many different kinds of transportation are available in New York City, and at NYU Law, you will probably use all of them at some point.

Public Transportation

Liquam nit ut lor acincin utem et, quam, consenim augiat. Ut vel exer ad exer si bla alit lore dolobore tie doluptat. Ommolore conse tem veliquis ex euisis num doloreet...

Continued: H4 in lists is overkill. H6 will do fine:

NOTE: Regular body text should always begin directly below an H4.

H5 ITEM HEADER

Use H5 sparingly. In most cases, H4 and H6 are preferable.

Use H5 for “superheaders”— they run above the H2 title on a page to indicate the larger section the page ‘lives’ in.

ABOUT

Transportation

Use H5 for short heads, especially to group similar items in long lists that also use H6.

Take the Manhattan Bridge. Off the Bridge, take Canal Street West to Avenue of the Americas...

From Queens

Take the 59th Street Bridge. Travel West to Fifth Avenue. Turn South on Fifth Avenue...

From Staten Island

Take the Staten Island Express across the Verrazano-Narrows Bridge crossing into Brooklyn...

Do not apply H5 to complete sentences because lots of all-cap text is difficult to read.

NOTE: H6 is the same as the body text, but in bold.

Therefore it is visually indistinguishable from these other valid uses of bold type that occur inside paragraphs:

- “inline” subbed: this comes at the beginning of a paragraph to help a reader find information quickly (a good way to call attention to information without adding extra linebreaks to the page.)

The admissions process is highly selective and seeks to enroll men and women of exceptional ability. Almost 7,200 men and women from all fifty states and several foreign countries applied for the Fall 2007 entering class. In recent years, more than 400 schools have been represented in the applicant pool. Almost seventy percent of recent applicants graduated from college at least one year before applying to NYU School of Law; about fifteen percent graduated more than five years before applying.

The deadline to apply for Fall 2008 admissions is February 1st.

Golding Student Lounge, located on the second floor Vanderbilt Hall, and the Wachtell, Lipton, Rosen & Katz Student Cafe, located in our newest building, Jay Furman Hall, are our two informal cafe facilities. Both are open year-round and offer daily fare including a variety of fresh baked pastry items, a rotating roster of specialty sandwiches and salads, homemade soups and hot entrees. The D'Agostino Hall Law Commons offers vending fare. This facility, a large, open, loft-like space, offers students lounge type seating as well as round tables with chairs for group study. In addition, there are fifteen computers and individual hookups for personal computers located around the room.

Dos and Don'ts

On the web, hyperlinks — or simply “links” — are typically denoted with underlined text.

Do not use any of the H-styles as links.

Not a valid link style.

Nor is this.

THIS NEITHER.

Nope. Sorry.

(See “paragraph-header links” below if you must use a URL as a header.)

The site uses three styles of links:

- “inline” links

An “inline” link is denoted by brick underlined text, like this, and it occurs within regular copy. Lore feummolor il dion vel euguer sisi. Tatuer sit pratumsan vullummy nisi. Lore feummolor il dion vel euguer sisi visit www.law.nyu.edu for more information. Sit pratumsan vullummy nisi

- standalone links

Standalone links are brick, underlined, and bold, and occur in list form:

www.law.nyu.edu

www.nyu.edu

www.nytimes.com

- paragraph-header links

Paragraph header links are also brick, underlined, and bold:

www.law.nyu.edu

A paragraph-header link will be followed by a paragraph, one that likely describes the URL above, styled in regular body text. Tatuer sit pratumsan vullummy nisi. Lore feummolor il dion vel euguer sisi sit pratumsan vullummy nisi. Quorum tatuebat sit pratumsan vullummy nisi. Lore feummolor il dion vel euguer sisi sit pratumsan vullummy nisi.

AREAS OF FOCUS

Business

The Big Picture

NYU gives students a uniquely business-focused law school experience, with the most comprehensive range of law and business offerings in contemporary legal education. Law and Business programs include the Mitchell Jacobson Leadership Program in Law and Business, the J.D. /M.B.A. with the Stern School of Business (you can apply to both schools with a single application form and, in some cases, appropriate education or work experience can substitute for the GMAT) and the Advanced Professional Certificate Program in Law and Business. All law students can take innovative law and business courses at either the Law School or at Stern.

Thanks to NYU's unbeatable location in downtown Manhattan and the University's strong connections to the business world, forged in part by our Lester Pollack Center for Law & Business, students get unparalleled access to and support from top business professionals in the form of classroom participation, mentorships, internships and career placements.

Avoid excessive or irregular numbers of blank lines between paragraphs and sections. If the page is well-structured, one blank line is sufficient. More than that requires the user to scroll down more than necessary to find what he/she is looking for.
