Law and Business at NYU

The Advanced Professional Certificate in Law & Business (APCLB) is a unique joint program of NYU's Stern School of Business and NYU School of Law designed specifically for law students interested in careers in corporate and financial law. Students complete 15 credit hours of graduate business study. The first 9 credits are taken in a summer session dedicated to foundational courses at the Stern School of Business. To fulfill the remaining 6 credits, students choose from a selection of Stern courses, cross-listed courses with Stern, or Law School courses that focus on business-related issues, all taken during the fall and spring semesters.

CORE SUMMER COURSES*

Foundations of Corporate Finance

analyzes the most significant financial decisions facing corporate managers. The major topics include investment valuation (capital budgeting), capital structure and dividend policy, and mergers and acquisitions. There will be emphasis on both developing the tools and mindset of the financial practitioner as well as examining specific applications in the form of examples and several case discussions. 3 credits
Professor Anthony Marciano

Financial Accounting and Reporting

introduces students to accounting reports, which are an important means of communication with investors. This course focuses on the development, analysis and use of these reports. In addition to traditional introductory topics, other topics may include mergers and acquisitions, purchase and pooling, free cash flow and financial statement analysis. 3 credits
Professor Alex Dontoh

Statistics and Data Analysis provides a survey of quantitative techniques applicable to decision making, with special regard to their roles in legal issues. Topics will include introduction to probability, statistical distributions (including binomial, Poisson, normal), statistical inference (estimation, prediction, and hypothesis tests), multivariate linear regression, correlation analysis, and statistical sampling. 3 credits
Professor Cyrus Mohebbi

*Faculty based on 2015 and Subject to change. If you place out of a core course, another Stern summer course may be substituted.
