

New York University School of Law
Summer Session 2014 Registration Instructions (version date: 5/13/2014)

Each summer NYU School of Law offers a range of on-campus and online courses in taxation, primarily for the benefit of continuing students in our part-time programs. Many of these courses are in advanced topics, and aren't good choices if you have not previously studied tax with us. We do offer some courses which, while still very challenging, are good starting points.

Summer session is open to:
-NYU School of Law students
-NYU School of Law alumni
-Attorneys who are not enrolled in a degree program

Most courses do require a student to have completed a basic law school course in U.S. Federal Income Taxation. Current J.D. students from NYU or other law schools may apply to take our on-campus courses, assuming they have taken the pre-requisites.

Restrictions on online study:

J.D. students may not register for an online section of a course for academic credit. Most law schools do not accept online courses work for academic credit towards a J.D. degree, though these courses often are transferrable for LL.M. students.

Additionally, students from the following states may not register for online courses: Alabama, Alaska, Arkansas, Minnesota, Montana, Oregon, and Wisconsin.

Students from the following four states may enroll, but may not take examinations in these states: Delaware, Kentucky, Rhode Island, and West Virginia. Students from Maryland should contact us at (212) 998-6394 prior to enrolling for additional information.

Summer on-campus courses meet in a condensed schedule and exams are held a few weeks after the end of the course meetings. We also record these on-campus courses and the online sections of these courses are on the same exam schedule as the on-campus sections. Our online-only courses are encore offerings of previously recorded courses, and will meet over June and July, with an exam early in August. Contrasted with our on-campus summer courses, the two month "online-only" courses meet over a much longer time period, the course evaluations for the specific offerings are already available, and students can frontload their course viewing, if desired.

Students who have been admitted to a degree program in the Fall 2014 semester may begin their studies in Summer 2014, though we recommend you first speak with John Stephens at (212) 998-6394.

Auditing: Most students take our courses for academic credit. However, it is also possible to audit a course. Auditing requires attending the class sessions and participating in-class, or alternatively, watching a course online. However, auditors do not sit for the exam and don't receive a grade or any academic credit. Auditing incurs the same cost as taking a class for credit. Auditors receive a transcript with a grade of "R." Online courses may have a lower standard of participation and attendance for auditors, but failing to attend or participate while auditing an on-campus course may result in a failing grade.

Transfer Credit: Students from other law schools should contact their home school to determine its transfer credit policy, including whether courses must be taken for a letter grade and, if applicable, whether an online course will be accepted for credit. A non-matriculated student has the option to take summer classes for a letter grade, and if the student receives a C or better, he or she may apply to have the credits earned count towards an NYU School of Law degree or certificate, should the student be admitted into a degree or certificate program at a later date. (The first graduate tax course taken at NYU begins an admitted student's five year period of study for an LL.M. degree.)

Credit limit: Students may register for up to six credits, though realistically, most working students shouldn't register for more than 2-3 credits during the summer session. Our summer session is roughly 8.5 weeks long, which is slightly more than half the length of our fall or spring semesters. It may be possible to take more credits if you have a light workload (or no work) over the summer or take combined courses, which meet on a condensed schedule.

Enrollment status for educational loans: Students taking six credits are eligible to apply for federal educational loans, assuming other conditions are met. Students taking 4 or 5 credits may also call John Stephens at (212) 998-6394 to discuss eligibility for half-time enrollment status, which makes one eligible to apply for loans, though other conditions may also factor in. For other information on student loans, both federal and private, please visit our student financial services website: <http://www.law.nyu.edu/financialaid/loansandlenders/index.htm>

Exams: All summer students are required to take their exams as scheduled; in the rare situation when an exam must be rescheduled due to extreme extenuating circumstances, such as unforeseen hospitalization, there will be a make-up date. We schedule most summer exams in the first week of August. The combined on-campus/online courses feature earlier exam dates. Exams are administered during the daytime and are not given in the evening, with the exception of the state taxation classes taught by Professor Pomp, which will feature take-home exams. Exam start times are in eastern time, and all students are expected to begin at that time, absent an arrangement to the contrary. There is a very high threshold for requesting an exam postponement. Exams are never administered prior to the listed exam date. All students taking summer classes generally have jobs, so work conflicts are not a unique situation and we cannot fairly reschedule exams on that basis. Therefore, summer students should clear their exam schedules with their employers before finalizing course schedules. There are several options for examining:

- 1). Take an exam on-campus at our Greenwich Village campus at the scheduled date/time using a laptop which meets our specs and is running our Exam4 examination software. You can use a mac or a PC laptop. This is referred to as an “in-class” exam.
- 2). Examine “in absentia” at another law school at the scheduled date/time on a laptop which meets our specs and using Exam4 software. Again, mac or PC is fine. You must approach the host university to arrange this and then coordinate with NYU’s exam administrators. Small variations in exam start time are allowed in the case of a student in another time zone (i.e., west coast.) Students in other countries often find that our exam schedule differs from other countries’ universities, and it may be difficult to arrange.
- 3). Take home exams: The three classes taught by Professor Pomp on state and local tax issues are the only classes which use this exam format. Take home exams require the exam to be taken on a computer. It can be a desktop or a laptop, and no special software is required, other than word processing software. Students download the questions, write an answer, and then upload it to our online take home exam system. Using either a Mac or PC is fine.
- 4). Students may purchase the remote proctor device and matching Secureexam software for any class that is offered online. This software is different from our on-campus exam software, and can only be used with PC laptops/desktops. Students interested in using this option should contact us a.s.a.p. if they wish to purchase a remote proctor unit, which costs around $180—i.e., those admitted in the fall who begin early by taking summer classes. In order to use the device, we suggest that you purchase it at least 6 weeks prior to the exam. Note that for our on-campus courses which meet towards the beginning of the summer session, there may not be enough time to order a remote proctor device prior to the exam date. In order to be registered to use the device, you must also contact us at Robertson@exchange.law.nyu.edu unless you are in the executive LL.M. program. We automatically register all admitted executive LL.M. students as potential users of the device, but do let us know if the summer is your first semester here.

Again, all in-class exams must be taken on a laptop. For all in-class exams, part-time students in the Taxation LL.M. program, alumni, and non-matriculants are expected to examine on-campus, while students in the Executive LL.M. program are eligible to examine using the remote proctor device. For more information on Exam4 (used for on-campus exams) please visit <http://www.law.nyu.edu/technology/students/exams/exam4/>. For information on how to configure your laptop, please visit <http://www.law.nyu.edu/technology/students/requirements> You may also contact the Office of Academic Services, 245 Sullivan Street, Furman Hall, Room 474, (212) 998-6020 or law.exams@nyu.edu with exam policy questions and Information Technology Services (ITS) at law.helpdesk@nyu.edu with technology questions.

Registration: Registration and refund deadlines will differ for many of the classes. Once registered for a class, summer session students may only drop or withdraw from a class by submitting a drop form, or by emailing us at: law.taxprograms@nyu.edu. Please do not wait until the deadline to request a drop. Students have until the last meeting of the class to withdraw without receiving a WD on their transcript, though refunds are calculated on a separate schedule.

Tuition:

Tuition is $2,217.00 per credit and is assessed at the time of registration. Registration and services fees for the first credit are $229 for students not enrolled in the Spring 2014 term and $198 for students enrolled in the Spring 2014 term. There is also a non-refundable $30 fee for each credit after the first credit for all students. Tuition and fees must be paid in full before the first class meeting. Registration and services fees are non-refundable once class begins.

<http://www.nyu.edu/bursar/tuition.fees/summer14/summer.tuitionlwsum.html>

Refunds of tuition:

Please note that registering for a class incurs tuition and fee liability. When we use the term “refund” we are referring to a reduction in that liability, not just the situation where we return some portion of the money we have already received from you. Thus, if you register for a class and have not yet paid for the class, you are still liable for the cost of the course. Please do not register for a course without familiarizing yourself with the rules and deadlines regarding refunds, i.e., reducing tuition and fee liability.

Refunds of tuition for dropped classes will be granted according to the following schedules.

Summer Session 2014 Registration Form

To all students taking summer courses: The Student Health Center automatically enrolls all degree-candidates taking summer courses in the NYU student health insurance plan. Non-degree students are not automatically enrolled in health insurance and need not waive coverage. To waive this plan, you must log on to the SHC website at https://nyu.consolidatedhealthplan.com/student_health/new_york_university.html no later than June 5th, 2014. Any waiver requests made after this date must be made in person at the SHC: 726 Broadway, 3rd floor. If you wish to register after June 5 and you intend to waive health insurance, you should contact the student health center prior to submitting this registration paperwork to see if it is still possible to waive coverage.

You can check your financial record via home.nyu.edu (within the ALBERT subsystem) to see if there is a charge from the NYU Student Health Center. You are encouraged to submit your waiver as soon as possible to avoid complications. Once the plan is waived (assuming timely submission), all Student Health insurance charges will be dropped from your record.

To request a class for this summer, please fill out this form. NYU reserves the right to refuse enrollment for students who are not enrolled in a degree program here. Degree candidates at NYU School of Law will be enrolled in the course they request, and tuition liability is incurred when you submit this form. Tuition is due even if you attend/view no classes, once the refund period has passed. You should carefully note the refund schedule for any class you are considering adding.

Course Descriptions:

Corporate Tax I

L. Schmolka, 2 credits LAW-LW.11907.001

Course Description: This course examines the federal income tax treatment of corporations and their shareholders arising from various transactions including transfers to controlled corporations, distributions, redemptions and liquidations.

Prerequisite: A Basic U.S. Federal Income Tax Course

Exam: Tuesday, August 5 at 9:30 am eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Fall 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a "WD" on one's transcript.

Corporate Tax II

L. Schmolka, 2 credits LAW-LW.10878.001

Course Description: This course will cover Parent-Subsidiary liquidations (§§ 332/337); § 351 exchanges; acquisitive reorganizations (Types A, B, C, and Triangular); and divisive reorganizations (Type D, spin-offs, Split-offs, and Split-ups).

Prerequisite: Required: A Basic U.S. Federal Income Tax Course. Recommended: Corporate Tax I or equivalent practice experience.

Exam: Tuesday, August 5 at 9:30 am eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Fall 2013 semester. These videos are of the second half of a four credit Corporate Tax I & II on-campus offering. This course was split into two segments so that we could offer it online in 2 credit segments. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a "WD" on one's transcript.

Estate and Gift Tax

Prof. Gans, 2 credits LAW-LW.11893.001

Course Description: The transfer-tax system is the focus of this course. It will include an examination of the estate-tax and gift-tax systems and how these two systems interact. The following issues will be included in the discussion: the inclusions in the gross estate; the deductions permitted in arriving at the taxable estate; the determination and timing of taxable gifts; and the exclusions and deductions permitting in arriving at taxable gifts. In each area, a consideration of the underlying policy implications will be considered. The course is designed for students who do not have a working knowledge of the basic estate and gift provisions.

Prerequisite: None

Exam: Monday, August 4 at 2:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Fall 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

International Tax I

V. Zonana, 2 credits LAW-LW.11920.001

Course Description: This is the first of three courses addressing US international taxation rules and policy. The principal focus is on “inbound” US taxation, i.e., the taxation of income from investments or business activities in the United States by nonresident aliens and foreign corporations. Investment income considered includes payments on debt and equity instruments, substitute and derivative payments, royalties and other income. As to business income, we focus on real estate operations, securities trading, income from the performance of services and the sale of goods. We also consider the treatment of income from intellectual property, electronic commerce and similar activities. Throughout, we analyze the impact of the application of income tax treaties, draw attention to special US income tax rules, and consider the role of international tax policy.

Corequisite(s): A Basic U.S. Federal Income Tax Course

Exam: Monday, August 4 at 9:30 am eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Fall 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

International Tax II

V. Zonana, 2 credits LAW-LW.10082.001

Course Description: This is the second of three courses addressing US international taxation rules and policy. In conjunction with International Tax III, the principal focus is on “outbound” US taxation, i.e., the taxation of US taxpayers with overseas investments or operations. The emphasis in this course will be on developing a deep understanding of the policy and intricacies of the foreign tax credit system (including the rules related to eligibility and creditable taxes, the section 904 limitation, the deemed-paid credit, and the potential for planning), the allocation of interest and other expenses, the treatment of overseas losses, some aspects of transfer pricing, and the use of hybrid entities in tax planning by US taxpayers. (This course may be taken at the same time as International Tax I

Prerequisite(s) or Corequisite(s): A Basic U.S. Federal Income Tax Course; International Tax I

Exam: Wednesday, August 6 at 2:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Spring 2014 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

International Tax III

V. Zonana, 2 credits LAW-LW.11865.001

Course Description: This is the third of three courses addressing US international taxation rules and policy. The focus is on other important “outbound” international tax topics including the "anti-deferral" provisions of the international tax system applicable to U.S. persons with overseas investments or operations. Emphasis is placed on the Subpart F rules and the PFIC regime. We also consider the rules applicable to various forms of international reorganizations (including liquidations, asset and stock transfers, and cross-border spin-offs). (International Tax I and II are pre-requisites unless waived by the instructor).

Prerequisite: A Basic U.S. Federal Income Tax Course; International Tax I and International Tax II, or permission of the instructor)

Exam: Monday, August 4 at 9:30 am eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Spring 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

Multistate Taxation: Income Taxation

R. Pomp, 2 credits LAW-LW.11055.001

Course Description: This course studies how the changing world of deregulation, electronic commerce, and globalization has affected state taxation. The course focuses on the economic, administrative, political, and constitutional constraints on state income taxation. The course does not concentrate on the laws of any particular state nor is any prior course in taxation required. The emphasis is on corporate taxation but some attention will be placed on individual taxation. We will study the Uniform Division of Income for Tax Purposes Act (UDITPA), which serves as a model for most states.

Prerequisite: None

Exam: A downloadable “take home” exam, beginning July 25 at 9:00 am and ending August 1 at 5:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Fall 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Tuesday, July 22, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund.

Multistate Tax: Sales and Gross Receipts Taxation

R. Pomp, 2 credits LAW-LW.10943.001

Course Description: This course studies how the changing world of deregulation, electronic commerce, and globalization has affected state taxation. Part of the course focuses on the economic, administrative, political, and constitutional constraints on state sales taxation. The course does not concentrate on the laws of any particular state nor is any prior course in taxation required. This course focuses on the sales tax, gross receipts tax, and the taxation of mail order sales. We will study recent developments involving Amazon and other Internet vendors.

Prerequisite: None

Exam: A downloadable “take home” exam, beginning July 25 at 9:00 am and ending August 1 at 5:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Spring 2014 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Tuesday, July 22, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund.

Partnership Taxation

L. Schmolka, 3 credits LAW-LW.11776.001

Course Description:

This course examines the federal income tax consequences arising from the operation of an enterprise that is treated as a partnership for tax purposes. Topics include the tax consequences of formation of a partnership; allocation of partnership income and deductions among partners; problems created by partnership liabilities, contributions, distributions; and acquisitions and dispositions of partnership interests.

Exam: Wednesday, August 6 at 9:30 am eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Spring 2014 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

State Taxation of Native Americans

R. Pomp, 2 credits, LAW-LW. 12163.001

The focus of this course is on the exploding field of state taxation of American Indians and Indian Tribes, as well as on the taxation of those doing business with them. Included is the taxation of Indians residing on and off a reservation, and non-Indians doing business with Indians on and off a reservation. Specific topics addressed will include the taxation of motor fuels, mineral resources, cigarettes, income, property, and retail sales. Special attention will be placed on treaties and unique Indian canons of construction. No prior tax courses are required.

Prerequisite: None.

Exam: A downloadable “take home” exam, beginning July 25 at 9:00 am and ending August 1 at 5:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Summer 2012 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Tuesday, July 22, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund.

Survey of Income Taxation

D. Schenk, two credits (not applicable towards degree progress), no exam LAW-LW.11954.001

Course Description: This course is intended for students who will be enrolling in the LL.M. (tax) program who have not previously taken a course in Basic Income Taxation. We no longer require LL.M. students to have previously enrolled in a basic U.S. federal income tax course, however we assume students will acquire that knowledge prior to starting our program. (For example, a fall semester tax course may immediately jump into advanced discussions of original issue discount.) Some students choose to self-study, often by reading the Chirelstein book on basic income taxation. This survey course was created in 2009, when we still required all tax students to have previously enrolled in a basic tax course. That formal requirement has since been removed.

This survey course was intended to meet the need for a flexible online course which covered the basic material in less than 4 credits. The course covers the material that you will be expected to know before you enroll in LL.M. tax courses. Among the topics covered are definition of the tax base (what is income and what is deductible), timing issues, and the taxation of property transactions (including basis, amount realized, character of gains and losses and nonrecognition). Please note that though this course does not count towards the LL.M. program, though it does incur a tuition charge equivalent to two credits of tuition and fees as would be charged on a per-credit basis. This charge applies regardless of whether an LL.M. or Advanced Professional Certificate student is part-time or full-time, and is incurred in addition to other tuition charges. J.D. students may not enroll in this class and should instead take the four credit Income Taxation course. The refund schedule for this course differs from the typical online course refund schedule due to the unique nature of this course. Please contact the graduate tax program with questions about registering for this course.

Continuing students have no need of this course. There is no exam for this course and students may add the course at any time. Students buy the recommended texts, watch the videos, and this course differs from our other online courses in that there is no discussion board or faculty interaction—the course and materials are very basic and self-explanatory. Refunds are based on the number of videos watched. This is a two credit course, but the credits for this course do not count towards any degree program at the school.

Prerequisite: None

Exam: None

Survey of Tax Procedure (Online)

J. Blank, 1 credit LAW-LW.10707.002

Course Description: In this short course, we will study critical rules that power the administration of our tax system. Perhaps to your surprise, you may find that these rules are relevant and interesting not only to the future tax litigators, but also to future transactional tax attorneys, and even to future tax policy thinkers. Specific topics we will discuss include taxpayer privacy, deficiency assessments, statutes of limitations, litigation in U.S. Tax Court and U.S. District Court and tax penalties.

Prerequisite: None

Exam: August 5, 9:30 am

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Summer 2012 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund. The last class day of the summer session before the exam period is Thursday, July 31, 2014, before 5 pm. This is the deadline to withdraw from the course without receiving a “WD” on one’s transcript.

Tax Aspects of Charitable Giving (Online)

J. Manny, 1 credit, LAW- LW.11589.001

Course Description: This course will provide an in-depth analysis of income tax issues affecting donations to charity. The course will begin with an introduction to policy, technical, and computational issues arising under the principal income tax provision (I.R.C. section 170). It will conclude with consideration of substantiation and valuation requirements for the charitable contribution deduction.

Recommended (not required) prerequisites: Income Taxation of Trusts and Estates; Estate and Gift Taxation

Exam: Wednesday, August 6 at 2:00 pm eastern time

This online course is a previously recorded class from the Summer 2013 semester. Video access begins on 06/02/2014. The deadline to add this class is 6/13/2014. Students must watch 80% of the videos by Thursday, July 24, 2014 or they will be withdrawn from the course without a refund.
