BUSINESS LAW TRANSACTIONS CLINIC

Request for Legal Assistance

Our Services

The Business Law Transactions Clinic of the New York University School of Law (the “Clinic”) provides free transactional legal services to non-profit organizations and certain for-profit businesses. We focus on providing practical support to assist our clients with corporate and business issues. Our students (all third year students at New York University School of Law) are selected from a pool of applicants and work under the close supervision of the Clinic’s experienced faculty on a variety of transactional matters, including:

- planning transactions, negotiating contracts, memoranda of understanding, and other operating agreements (ex: service, independent contractor, fiscal sponsorship) and preparing other project documents;
- performing targeted legal reviews and advising senior managers and boards about governance, compliance and reporting practices;
- preparing bylaws, conflict-of-interest and other board policies, committee charters, director orientation materials, board calendars, board self-assessment tools and similar documents; and
- preparing template and tool documents (ex: contracts, forms, summaries and checklists) for management use.

Our Clients

We provide transactional legal services to not-for-profit organizations, as well as to small businesses, entrepreneurs and social enterprises that may not have access to the traditional legal market and that operate in areas of concern to the public. We work primarily with existing organizations on projects governed by the law of New York State, the corporate laws of the State of Delaware and the United States.

How to Apply for Legal Assistance

We will review your completed application to determine whether your organization has a legal matter that we can address and whether your organization meets the Clinic’s eligibility requirements. We ask that you submit all of the materials supporting your application as soon as possible so that we can avoid unnecessary delay in processing your request. Following receipt of a completed application, we will invite you to an introductory meeting to discuss your organization’s application and legal needs in greater detail. If you and the Clinic agree to move forward, we will provide you with an engagement letter that specifies the scope of services to be provided and the other details of our relationship.

The Clinic primarily works with clients during New York University’s academic year (September – December and January – May). Although we review and accept applications on an ongoing basis, the Clinic aims to start new projects at the beginning of each semester. Once the Clinic has accepted your project, students or Clinic faculty will be available throughout the year.

What Does it Cost?

There will be no charge for legal services provided by the Clinic. However, your organization will be responsible for any filing fees or other expenses incurred in our representation and approved by you in advance.

Request for Legal Assistance Form Instructions

The following guidelines will assist you in completing the attached application:

1. Answer all the questions, providing as much detail as possible, and attach additional sheets if necessary to complete the questions thoroughly. The more we know about a prospective client, the easier it will be for us to review its application and assess its legal needs.
2. Enclose the documents requested on page 4.
3. Include brochures and other materials that show the mission, activities, staff, and other special features of your organization.
4. Include documents related to the current legal need (i.e. copies of contracts, personnel policies, audits), if such information is available.
5. E-mail your application to:

Jeremy.Steckel@nyu.edu or Emily.Winston@nyu.edu

Or mail your application to:

SOCIAL ENTERPRISE ADDENDUM

(to be completed by for-profit applicants only)

Pursuant to the mission of Washington Square Legal Services, Inc., the Clinic may represent for-profit businesses only “where the interests of the public may be protected or furthered.” In furtherance of this mission, for-profit clients that may qualify for representation include:

- Social enterprises whose mission involves positive social change, such as combating poverty and hunger, promoting public health and safety or improving the environment.
- Businesses that foster the economic development of low-income or economically-distressed communities.

Your responses to the questions below will help us determine if your for-profit business qualifies for assistance from the Clinic.

1. Does your business have a social mission? ____ YES ____ NO

If yes, please describe your business’s social mission and the means through which your business will pursue this mission.

Useful details to include in this response include, but are not limited to: (1) how your business serves the public interest; (2) evidence of your business’s social mission in its constitutive documents; (3) whether your business is a public benefit corporation or other statutorily recognized social enterprise; and (4) third-party certifications of social mission (i.e., B Lab).

If your business’s commitment to its social mission is evidenced in your constitutive documents or any other documentation, please be sure to include those documents when submitting this intake form.

2. Is your business the recipient of a grant from a charity, foundation or other publicly supported organization?

___YES ___NO

If yes, what is the name of the organization? -

3. Will your business directly contribute to the economic development of a low-income or economically distressed community? ___YES ___NO

If yes, please describe (1) the low-income or economically distressed community in which your business will operate and (2) how your business will contribute to the economic development of that community:
