2025 PCCE Fall Antitrust Conference

Thursday, November 13

40 Washington Square South, Greenberg Lounge, New York, NY 10012

Conference Objective

The conference will bring together academics, government officials, general counsel, compliance officers and expert external counsel for an off-the-record discussion on the current and evolving antitrust regulatory landscape. Topics will include practical and theoretical examinations of government regulatory action—from administrative practices to statutes—that harm consumers and workers by restricting output; the DOJ's new whistleblower policy applicable to antitrust violations; the current state of cases where plaintiffs allege competitor collusion to influence content moderation policies; and institutional investor scrutiny.

PCCE Conference Rule

To encourage frank, open analysis of issues and the sharing of information, our conferences and roundtables are governed by the following rule:

> Participants are free to use the information received, but all content at this PCCE event is not for attribution, in whole or in part. Specifically, neither the identity of the person who makes the comment nor his or her affiliation (including whether he or she is a government or private-sector employee) may be revealed. PCCE does not videotape or otherwise record an event (or any segment of an event) governed by this rule, unless otherwise noted in the program.

To promote future communication among participants, PCCE publishes conference and roundtable programs and includes a list of speakers on its website. In addition, PCCE takes photographs of speakers and attendees, some of which are included on the PCCE website, on social media, and in our brochure. Your attendance at PCCE events constitutes permission for us to use photographic and identifying information for such purposes.

Continuing Legal Education

We anticipate that this free event will be approved for up to five New York State CLE credits for those who attend the entire event, the exact number to be confirmed. It is appropriate for newly admitted attorneys, as well as experienced attorneys.
