About the Scholarship

The C. Bainbridge Smith Scholarship provides scholarships to law school students who are residents of New York City, demonstrate character, intelligence, and promising aptitude for the law, and face a special economic disadvantage (including lack of funds, or physical or cultural limitations).

Eligibility for the Scholarship

To be eligible for the C. Bainbridge Smith Scholarship, applicants must: (I) be a resident of New York City; (II) attend one of the following law schools: Brooklyn Law School, Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law, Columbia University School of Law, CUNY School of Law, Fordham University School of Law, New York Law School, New York University School of Law, or St. John's University School of Law, and (III) face one or more economic disadvantages (including lack of funds or physical or cultural limitations).

For the third criterion (III), the office will consider many factors, including but not limited to whether the applicant is:

- The first family member to attend law school
- From an economically disadvantaged family
- A member of a group currently underrepresented in law schools and law firms
- From a family with little or no legal education or experience
