Internship Description:

Guardian is a Fortune 250 financial and insurance company with products and services in life insurance, wealth management, annuities, investments, dental insurance, vision insurance, group and workplace benefits, absence management insurance and related financial products.

Summer Associate Interns work in all areas of the Company's Law Department (including litigation, corporate investments, labor and employment, benefits, tax, regulatory, compliance, government relations, and real estate). Interns research, draft, and attend meetings. Interns work closely with the Law Department's business partners across all areas of the company and in all offices; interns may also work with outside counsel and members of Guardian's product distribution channels. The NYU Law Summer Associate Intern will also partner with Guardian's Corporate Social Responsibility (CSR) team and the Office of the Corporate Secretary to enhance the Law Department's social impact work, including pro bono and other employee engagement opportunities, in alignment with Guardian's CSR and Inclusion & Diversity strategies. Ongoing mentorship opportunities, corporate trainings, one-on-one review of work products, and continuous business exposure are provided. Guardian cannot promise the offer of employment at the conclusion of summer program.

Guardian is based in New York City; intern is responsible for travel and housing. Internship position is paid. Guardian's employees are working from home and our offices are currently slated to open on July 1, 2021, these plans may change.

Applicants must be eligible to work in the U.S. without company sponsorship, now or in the future, for employment-based work authorization. F-1 visa holders with Optional Practical Training (OPT) who will require H-1B status, TNs, or current H-1B visa holders will not be considered. H1-B and green card sponsorship is not available for this position.
